Basic Life Support (BLS) Training for Palestinian National Rehabilitation Center Physicians and Nurses

January 06, 2019; IMET2000-PAL- in cooperation with the Ministry of Health and Arab American University- Jenin organised a Basic Life Support (BLS) training workshop for Palestinian National Rehabilitation Center. 10 physicians and nurses attended the workshop from Palestinian National Rehabilitation Center. This workshop was led by Mr Hisham Zahran (American Heart Association “AHA”) Instructor. This workshop is one in a series of training scheme that enables healthcare professionals to act swiftly and effectively to give the affected individual the best chance of recovery.

Art Therapy Activities for Children Undergoing Treatment for Cancer

IMET2000-PAL in cooperation with An-Najah National University Hospital organised two activities for children with cancer on the 10th & 15th of January, 2019. The activities included a free drawing by watercolour, wherein each child can choose his/her own colour to help them reflect their feelings. The children’s passion to play and draw was obvious in colours world. In these sessions, we used art therapy to help those children and their families explore and express difficult thoughts and feelings. About 6 children attended each event at An-Najah Hospital. Ms Hadeel Alawneh, art therapy teacher led the training in the hospital. In this program, we are hoping to help these children cope with some of the cancer symptoms and its treatment.

IMET2000-Pal Sponsored 2 Nurses from Hebron University

As a part of its program in fostering the culture of health research and education, IMET2000-Pal supported 2 nurses from Hebron University: Ms Salam Abu Laban and Ms. Ruqaya Anani, to attend the Applied Science University (ASU) Pharmacy 4th International Conference about recent trends in postgraduate research, Amman, Jordan. Their visit lasted for two days from the fifth to sixth of January 2019. IMET2000 is very keen to see young healthcare professionals involved in clinical research and will continue supporting such initiatives.
